INVESTCORP BLDG OXFORD UNIVERSITY

Founded in 1957, the Middle East Centre at St Antony's College serves as the University of Oxford's facility for research and teaching on the Arab world.

The new Investcorp Building (by Zaha Hadid Architects) for the Middle East Centre includes a 117 seat lecture theatre furnished with our PERSEO model that will help to expand its popular programme of seminars, lectures and debates - much of which is open to both the University and the general public.

The Msheireb district in Doha is becoming one of the most prestigious areas in Qatar while representing a cultural boom in the country. The main auditorium of the Administration Building meant to ASCENDER the most challenging conference hall in terms of technical complexity.

Every seat of the hall was produced following a precise customized design with premium finishes such as upholstery in full grain leather and first quality walnut armrests and writing tablets. Moreover, the individual VIP armchairs of the front rows are electronically controlled and fully reclining to fulfil the most demanding personalities.

The architect Víctor López Cotelo has been recently awarded with the 2015 Spanish Architectural Award for the reconversion of the old Military Hospital into the High Technical School of Architecture of the University of Granada.

Being the highest prize awarded by this architectural institution, the jury highlighted the strategy followed through the complete restoration of this historic building “ completing this reconversion with an extraordinary balance, aesthetic vision and knowhow “. The customized desks with leather-upholstered seats from ASCÉNDER model JAVIER DESK match perfectly the architect’s vision of the interior of the building.
